

Abkit gathers information through “cookies” which are small files of electronic information that allow the host to keep records of your website visits and personalize the website visit for you. Abkit also uses cookies for server diagnostic and website administration and maintenance purposes, for marketing and promotional purposes, to improve the website, to determine which areas of the website are used most often, to enhance your website experience, and to gather general demographic information. We may also use cookies to deliver content specific to your interests. Cookies are not used to report on or track you when you leave this website or any activities beyond this website. The forms on this website may require you to provide contact information, such as your name, address, e-mail address or other information, which, if you have given us permission to do so, will be used to send you information about our goods and services and promotional material from Abkit. We consider your information to be privileged and confidential and it will not be given to any third party except if required to do so by law, court order, or as required by other governmental or legal entities. In addition, Abkit may disclose information in special cases when there is a reason to believe that disclosure of the information is necessary to identify, contact or bring legal action against a person who may be causing injury to or interference (either intentionally or unintentionally) with the rights or property of Abkit, other visitors to this website, or anyone else potentially harmed by such activities.

STOPS THE COLD
BEFORE IT TAKES HOLD.

